

Long ago, in the icy depths of Fond Du Lack there was a woman with a heart of ice and skin that was as cold as snow, her name was Lady Ice. She lived in a house by the woods. Some say she was a princess, while others say she was a witch, but the tale still stays the same. One dark cold winter she walked into the woods and never returned. Shortly after a storm they found her body! A smile frozen on her face. They say if you walk into the woods on a cold night she will find you and when the cops come looking they'll find your body just like they found hers! One cold night my parents told me not to go outside but I didn't listen. I walked in the woods and thought " Ha my parents are wrong, who would even believe a story like that.

I started to walk deep into the woods, I don't know why, it was like something was pulling me. One hour had past. I could tell I was deep in the woods. "Maybe it's time to head back" I thought. As I turned around I couldn't tell which path I had taken. I got scared. I yanked my phone out of my pocket and I dialed my moms number. The ringing broke the eerie silence. "Hello". "Hey mom" I answered. "I just wanted you to know I'm ok but I'm lost" I continued. Mom said " don't worry your dad is already looking for you". I started to tell her where I thought I was. Just as I opened my mouth the line went dead. I called back but there was no answer.

I heard the sound of leaves crumbling. I turned around “ Is anyone there” I whispered. Shock filled my face. There was a woman, her hair was white. Her face looked frozen, she wore a dress that covered her feet.

She was beautiful. I locked eyes with her. Suddenly the name Lady Ice came to mind. This woman had to be Lady Ice!! I mean no human looks like that. I started to get frightened. Doesn't she kill people who come to the woods on a cold night? Lady Ice took a step forward. I gulped, she started coming closer while i stood still. When Lady Ice stopped we were too feet apart. She took one more step forward. I heard my dads voice I turned from Lady Ice and started running.

I saw my dad. "Dad " I screamed. " Lizzy I've been worried sick, why are you even out here" Dad said. I whispered " I just wanted to see if the legend was true ". " What legend " he asked confused. " The legend of Lady Ice" I answered. His body stiffened at the word "Don't ever talk about her again " I nodded.

I later thought if Lady Ice kills everyone - Why didn't she kill me

The End!

