Adams County Library will be offering unlimited ebook copies of “After the Flood” by Cassandra Montag. “After the Flood” is the first selection of the Libraries Transform Book Pick digital reading program, which offers access to the same book at the same time through public libraries.

“After the Flood” will be available for download October 7–21, 2019 at <https://wplc.overdrive.com/>. There will be no waitlists or holds for the title. Only a library card and the Libby app are needed to download the ebook.

The selection of “After the Flood” was made in consultation with experts at Booklist, the book review magazine of the American Library Association.

The Libraries Transform Book Pick is brought to you by the American Library Association and OverDrive. For additional information about the program and ebook and additional resources like a discussion guide, please visit lovelibraries.org/libraries-transform-book-pick.
